Biography:

Danielle French is a nomadic singer/songwriter based out of Calgary, AB who has been writing, recording and performing for 20 years. Her music has been described as "beautiful strangeness". In 2012 Danielle was invited by Pat mAcDonald (Grammy-nominated songwriter, formerly of the band Timbuk3- he wrote "The Future's So Bright I Gotta Wear Shades") to participate in a series of songwriting intensives at the Holiday Music Motel in Sturgeon Bay, WI. Three times a year, dozens of songwriters of varying genres are housed at the Motel for a week at a time to co-write, record and perform together. Songwriters are paired through a random "spin-the-bottle" process. Reflecting on the material she had co-written at the Motel over the years, a group of songs emerged that proved to be transformational for Danielle, inspiring her to conjure up her latest project...
